

Kurri Kurri Day. 25 April 2021

We will meet at Kurri information service in Lang Street at 10am. Buy a coffee, cake or handcrafted goods. Across the road is the local war memorial. We will spend a few moments paying our respects at the Kurri War Memorial and if you have a card, poppy or flowers you can lay them at the memorial. I will bring the story of one of the Kurri men commemorated at the memorial to share and others may like to share stories of those who have served.

Then we will travel to the Kurri General Cemetery and view the flag display. Wander through the Cemetery and remember the many returned servicemen commemorated there. You might find a relative or two or take the time to find family resting here. Again, if your relative has an interesting story, you might like to share this with us.

The newly opened Coalfields Local History Museum will be opened for us to visit. Entry is a $2 coin. If your family is or was into mining then there will be something to interest you in amongst the display.

Lunch at a local pub, club or a picnic in the park. A visit to Historic Cessnock to follow or you may wish to travel back to Newcastle. Register for event at nfhsevents@gmail.com
